Draft Research

Here are few site I use to research for drafting players for the Naperville Fantasy Ballclub™:

- www.ibm.com/smarterplanet/us/en/ibmwatson/ - I use IBM's Watson AI for fantasy baseball research, online dating strategies, and my climate change models.
- www.fantasypros.com/ - This is my favorite site. They build their player rankings by averaging the rankings of a million other guys/sites.
- www.razzball.com/ - The funniest site on the internets. Their research is pretty good too.
- www.kffl.com/fantasy-baseball/cheat-sheets-rankings.php - cheat sheet
- <http://www.rototchamp.com/> - nice rankings, projected batting orderd and pitching rotations for each MLB team (on the right)
- games.espn.go.com/frontpage/baseball - ESPN is your Daddy. Not mine.
- www.foxsports.com/fantasy -
- www.cbssports.com/fantasy/baseball/ - All these guys are similar. You can use them for a nice cheat sheet.

Of course, "google fantasy baseball" works too.

See you at the draft!
